

Dear ACS members

We would like to share with you all our call for proposals to host our 2014 ACS Symposium (our sixth). We look forward to hearing from any and all of you interested in leading our next conference!

CALL FOR PROPOSALS:
HOSTING ACS SYMPOSIUM 6 (Spring 2014)

The Forum for Architecture, Culture, and Spirituality (ACS) calls for proposals to host the next ACS symposium in Spring 2014.

Your proposal should be brief and include the following:

- (a) a statement of intent addressed to the ACS Forum Executive Committee;
- (b) Overall theme and argument for the symposium and preliminary idea of specific themes
- (c) Location and preliminary logistics (e.g., possible lodgings, possible gathering place for presentations and lectures, etc)
- (d) Potential activities (e.g., special or keynote lectures, music, tours, ACS meaningful buildings, etc)
- (e) Preliminary timeframe with dates for the call for proposals/abstracts, review process, decision and announcement, final submission, etc.

Please note, as the host(s) you'll be chairing the review of papers committee. Web-hosting, peer-review, and other support will be provided by the Executive Committee upon request/discussion with the symposium chair(s).

We encourage those interested in submitting a symposium proposal to consider our five previous meetings as models on how we have conducted this meeting in the past. This information is available at: <http://www.acsforum.org/archive.htm> (previous 4 symposia) For ACS 5, visit: http://www.acsforum.org/usw_symposium/ (for current ACS 5). If you have any question or would like to discuss ideas, please contact Julio Bermudez via email first. We may continue the conversation over the phone if necessary.

Please send the proposals to Julio Bermudez <bermudez@cua.edu> by July 1, 2013.
